BLACK EYE

Why do you get a black eye? A handkerchief or washrag soaked in cold water will do much, however, as the object is to minimize discoloration of the ocular contusion which is the medical term for black eye.

A black eye is often the occasion for some ribbing from friends, but never be little a black eye. After a blow to the eye, whether or not it becomes discolored, medical aid should be secured without delay if there is any loss of vision, detachment of the retina may have occurred, and this may lead to blindness in the eye if treatment is delayed.

An accurate estimation of the condition of an eye which has suffered a contusion is sometimes difficult because of swelling, pain, intolerance to light, and possibly hemorrhage. Injuries to the eye often occur in cases of general injury, especially in automobile accidents; and the injured person is not always able to call attention to every affected part of his body.

In the emergency room of a hospital where an injured person has been brought, the degree of shock may be such that a physician cannot immediately determine how much the patient sees or does not see. When the physician is observing an injured person and discovers that one or both eyes have been involved in the accident, he must determine the extent of the injury, give immediate treatment, and possibly refer the patient to an eye specialist. In cases of injury, the physician must determine if the damage is superficial or penetrating; if there is damage to vision, and if complications are likely to develop. Who started that beefsteak business, anyhow?

Sparkman Cites Good Business Sign

Gross postal receipts in Alabama increased between January, 1960, and January, 1965, by almost 43 per cent—from $26.4 million to $37.7 million, Senator John Sparkman (D., Ala.) announced recently.

"Because 80 per cent of mail volume is generated by business firms," Sparkman stated, "the volume of mail in any area is considered a good indicator of business activity. In view of the uncertainty in some quarters about the rate of Alabama's business growth, I asked the Post Office Department in Washington to prepare for me a five-year summary of our State's postal activity."

Sparkman said the special survey showed: Alabama's mail volume increased by more than 11 per cent.

There was in January, a total of 6,974 postal employees—up 7 per cent. The State's postal payroll at $41.5 million was up 25 per cent.

The number of first class offices rose from 55 to 70.

Second class offices went up from 100 to 119. Third class offices increased by 14 to 295.

Fourth class post offices declined from 302 to 227.

In addition, Sparkman said, Alabama gained 101 new post office buildings costing more than $6 million—plus a $3.5 million Dothan office building, a new Federal building in Mobile, and a new building in Dothan.

Kelly Springs near Dothan offers camping, fishing, boating and picnic facilities.

Elba BPW Presents $100 Scholarship

The Elba Business and Professional Women's Club presented a $100 scholarship to Judy Smith, a senior at Troy State College in Enterprise.

Mr. Joseph B. Talridge, Dean of the college and instructor of American history, was the guest of the club and gave some information about the college. The opening date will be September 27 and classes will begin in October.

Previously announced by Major General John J. Tolson, commanding general of Fort Rucker, in addition to the extra students, permanent party personnel at Fort Rucker are to be increased by 1,800 military and civilians.

General Tolson also announced today an accelerated system for training mechanics for the UH-1 helicopter, which is Army aviation's workhorse vehicle in the Republic of Vietnam.

Effective October 15, the training time for UH-1 mechanics will be trimmed by three weeks, from 15 weeks to 10 weeks. Previously, UH-1 mechanics had to complete three courses prior to graduation: initial entry, single-engine observation helicopter and a course specializing in the UH-1.

Under the new program, they will take only two courses: the initial entry and UH-1.

General Tolson commented that the revised training program will result in providing units with trained mechanics in a shorter time without any sacrifice in quality of the training.

Elba scored in each of the first three quarters but failed to push over the goal line in the final quarter. The Tigers scored on drives of 46, 44 and 50 yards and scored on two passes and one run around the Elba Tigers turned a score.

The leading ground gainers for the Elba Tigers were Merrill Shirley with 92 yards and Dave Blackman with 81 yards.

The Elba fans were a bit uneasy when Shirley seemed to be unable to catch his breath but good medical attention and strong medicine should clear the virus by the time this Friday night game is played by David Stokes.

After the fish supper, the members moved into the recreation center and saw a film on the Elba-Luverne game played last Friday night.

MISS JOYCE SKINNER

Elba Girl Selected As Most Improved

Students selected as outstanding by their class in business behavior at George C. Wallace State Vocational-Technical School are Miss Reta Dease as "most ideal" and Miss Joyce Skinner as "most improved."

Miss Dease is a 18-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Dease, Route 3, Ozark, Alabama.

Miss Skinner, of Elba, is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Skinner and is a 1964 graduate of Zion Chapel School. Her principal hobby is painting, but she also likes to cook. She hopes to become an airline stewardess and expects her training in computer programming to help her to advance in this work. She is 5'4" tall, has green eyes and refers to herself as a "strawberry blonde."

Both of these students entered George C. Wallace State Vocational-Technical School in June, 1965 and are enrolled in the data processing-computer programming course.

Council Discusses Bonds With School Board

The Elba City Council held its regular meeting at the City Hall Monday night with all members present. The main order of business was an ordinance concerning the repayment of the general obligation bonds sold to build the new school. These bonds are set up to be repaid at certain times and the bondholders have special ways they want the gasoline tax and other monies handled in anticipation of the repayment.

There was some question from the council and the school board about the wording of the ordinance and the city fathers voted to have the bondsmen come to Elba and explain it to them. The interest on the money for 1960 will be $15,000 and the wording on how much of this and the principal payment that was to be banked each year was not clear.

Miss Dorsey Becomes Bride Of Mr. Pridgen

The marriage of Miss Virginia Lee Dorsey, of Atlanta and Elba, to Noel Frank Pridgen, Jr., of Atlanta and Dothan, took place Saturday, September 18th, at five o'clock in the afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Elba.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Dorsey, of Elba, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Noel Frank Pridgen, of Dothan.

Doctor Charles Graham performed the double ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was given by Mrs. Paul King, organist, and Mrs. Jimmy Kirkland, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an Empire bridal gown of candlelight pea de sole and Alencon lace, fashioned with Alencon lace bodice featuring a lacy scoop neckline and a demure ruffle below its corded waistline. The A-line skirt was accented with scalloped bands of the Alencon lace at the hemline, and the full detachable train was highlighted with godets of matching lace featuring tiny corded bows of pea de sole. Her three tiered veil of silk illusion fell from a double coronet of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, gift from the groom. Her flowers were a cascade of gardenias centered with white orchids.

The bride's honor attendants were her sister, Miss Heirianne Dorsey, of Dallas, Texas and Elba, and her cousin, Mrs. Marilyn Dyess, of Huntsville. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Jane Gosline, of Atlanta, Miss Lynn Meighan,

Faulk Family Newcomers To Elba

Mr. and Mrs. Bill B. Faulk and children, Sharon, Billy, and Samuel have recently moved from Enterprise to Elba.

They are residing on Airport Road until their home is completed on Pine Cove Drive. They are Methodists, and take an active part in schools and community activities.

Faulk is a Soil Conservation Technician with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service.

He has been working in the Coffee County Soil Conservation District for six years, assisting farmers in establishing terraces, ponds, pastures, and other conservation practices.

Among the students who have returned to college are Conny Cooper, Agnes Scott; Bob Cooper, University of Alabama; and Cooper, Huntington College, and Betsy Inman, Alabama College.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. English has been released from Gibson Hospital and is at home in Elba. Her condition has improved.

Mrs. M. J. Lee visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Norman and family in Haleyville last week.

The wedding ceremony was held on Saturday, August 28, in Columbus, Georgia, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. F. The couple is residing at their home at 3524 Rodgers Drive, Columbus, Georgia. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Padgett, of Elba. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Greer, of Columbus, Georgia. The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. J. M. Dorsey, of Elba.

The bride wore a white gown and the groom wore a tuxedo. The ceremony was held in a private chapel at Fort Carson, Colorado. The bride and groom were accompanied by their parents and other family members. The ceremony was a private affair.

Stories Behind Words

by William S. Penfield

Hot Dog

In the latter part of the 19th Century German immigrants introduced into the United States a sausage which was called a frankfurter because it originated in Frankfurt, Germany.

Americans already were familiar with another German import, the dachshund, a badger hound with a long body and short legs. The resemblance of the long, slender frankfurter to the body of the dachshund was noted and Americans started referring to the frankfurters as "dachshunds."

Later, the nickname "dachshund" was shortened to just plain "dog," and when the frankfurters were heated and put into buns, they were called "hot dogs."

Shall I force my child to go to Sunday School and Church?

Yes, definitely! Startled? Why? How do you answer Lucy when she comes to the breakfast table and announces, "I'm not going to school today?" You know, Lucy goes.

How do you answer when Lucy comes in bedsmugged with dirt and says, "I'm not going to take a bath?" You know, Lucy bathes.

How do you answer when Lucy, threatened with illness, says, "I'm not going to take that medicine?" You know, she takes it.

Why all this timidity, then, in the realm of spiritual guidance and moral training? Going to wait and let her decide what Church she'll go to when she's old enough? Don't fool yourself. By that time she'll probably believe that a decision neglected by her parents during her first twenty years might not be necessary at all. You didn't wait until she was "old enough" to decide she should go to school. Afraid she'll later succumb to the old story about "... too much religion when I was young ... parents made me go?" This tale is obviously false. Just because she takes a bath tonight doesn't mean she'll discontinue them at the age of twenty-one.

HONOR GRADUATES - WO Daniel W. Lindsey 111 (center) accepts an Association of the U.S. Army Plaque from Maj. Gen. John J. Tolson, commandant of the Army Aviation School, Ft. Rucker, Alabama, for being honor graduate of Warrant Officer Fixed Wing Aviation Course 65-9. At right are Capt. and Mrs. Walter E. Buss. He was honor graduate of Officer Fixed Wing Aviation Course 65-8. Watching the presentations is Brig. Gen. George I. Forsythe (left), assistant commandant of the Army Aviation School, who was graduation speaker. (U.S. Army Photo)

Army Aviation Highly Praised At Fixed Wing Graduation

Army aviation was highly praised by the Assistant Commandant of the Army Aviation School in an address to fixed wing graduates of the Army Aviation School at Fort Rucker.

Brig. Gen. George I. Forsythe, of Fort Benning, Georgia, declared that Army aviation "in addition to making it easier for us in the Infantry is also making it safer."

The Fort Benning official defined Army aviation as an air activity that is designed and willing to live and fight with the U.S. Army in the field, adding, "It is a welcome member of the team on the battlefield."

Honor graduates receiving Association of the U.S. Army Plaque from the major General John J. Tolson, commandant of the Army Aviation School, were Captain Walter E. Buss, of Poplarville, Mississippi, for Officer Fixed Wing Aviator Course 65-8 and WO Daniel W. Lindsey 111, Richmond, Va., for Warrant Officer Fixed Wing Aviator Course 65-9.

Fred Powell Jackson Dies In Local Hospital

Fred Powell Jackson, age 54, passed away Tuesday morning, September 21, in a local hospital after a long illness. on since the beginning and no doubt will continue ad infinitum - even the ancient Egyptians knew about constipation and discussed it in their medical writings.

With constipation there is delayed progress through the intestines, commonly in the lower portion of the colon. This delay is called stasis or standstill and is usually relative rather than absolute. The reasons for delay are in the character of the food eaten or in the condition of the digestive tract.

Constipation is also caused by weak peristaltic or wave-like motion in the intestine that propels the contents along. Sometimes there is an irregular peristaltic motion, with interruptions in the spasmodic contractions of the bowel musculature that retard onward motion.

Constipation may produce symptoms such as a feeling of distention and local discomfort, with possible headache and lack of energy. Hemorrhoids, or piles may also result from prolonged constipation, and pressure during constipation on veins leading to the legs contributes at times to the formation of varicose veins.

The fear of constipation is often more harmful than the disorder itself. Many individuals have the mistaken idea that if one is constipated he must be ill. Therefore, he takes cathartics or laxatives and enemies; and, if this practice becomes a habit, the person is likely to develop chronic constipation. A normal diet, plenty of water, adequate exercise, and a calm mind and relaxed attitude will help prevent constipation.

"The man who has to eat his words never asks for seconds."

Farm NEWS

BY TOM CASADAY, CO. AGENT

APPRECIATION
I want to express appreciation to our banks and lime and fertilizer dealers in the county who supported the Elba Promotional Week last week. About one dozen of our businessmen who are directly concerned with fertilizer and lime materials and the welfare of farmers entered wholeheartedly into this program.

The main reason we are emphasizing soil testing at this time of the year is to determine lime requirements and to get the lime spread before Christmas if needed. This will work better for everybody concerned.

REASON FOR TESTING

We talk a lot about making high yields of peanuts, cotton, and other crops; but especially peanuts and cotton. The only way we can make more money in Coffee County through these crops is by increasing per acre yields. Our acreage is strictly limited by allotments and gross income is determined by pounds of times price. Profits are almost always associated with high yields.

ELBA OFFICE
Plans are being made to open an Elba county extension office which will be opened every day until noon. One of the farm or home agents will be in this office each morning. Just as soon as details are completed, we will publish these so that everybody will be notified. We believe this move will help us to more effectively serve all of the people in the county.

ALL-BREED SALE
The South Alabama All-Breed Hog Sale is scheduled to be held on Friday, October 29, at the old sale barn on the Elba-Troy Highway in Elba. The Sale Committee told me just recently that they are expecting the best quality hogs every offered at this sale. County growers will have a real good opportunity to buy hogs, bred gilts, open gilts, or almost any breed hog they want at this sale. Hog production in Coffee County is not under any controls. We have the know-how, the land, and other resources to double hog production in this county. For those of you who are interested, this could be a profitable sale for you to attend.

GARDENS
One of my friends mentioned to me the other day that I rarely ever wrote anything about gardening in my column. I am sure that this is true, and I will try not to overlook this in the future.

Anytime now is an ideal time to plant cabbage, collards, turnips, kale, mustard, lettuce, radishes, broccoli, and onion sets. By the way, for those of you who have pecan trees, right now or the next few days will be an ideal time to mow or disk around trees I know a lot of farmers who have done a good job of using fertilizer and following year. Probably the most important is the fact that lime reacts slowly with the soil and if we wait until almost planting time, the results will not be as good. Coffee County farmers are urged to take samples now and send them on in to the laboratory so that lime is needed it can be spread in October.

One of the big problems to overcome is getting lime spread. In the past we have soil tested after Christmas and it was in February and March before we checked with the lime dealers to get the lime spread. At this time of the year, fields are boggy, the wind is blowing, or it is raining and it is difficult for lime trucks to operate more than a day or two out of each week. As a result, we don't always get a good job done of spreading or it is so late that we postpone it to the following year. Probably the most important is the fact that lime reacts slowly with the soil and if we wait until almost planting time, the results will not be as good. I talked with Mr. O. I. Cunningham, Executive Secretary of the Enterprise Chamber of Commerce, a few days ago, and we don't know whether we will have any 100 bushel people. We plan to check every person's yields.

What's The Sum Of An Education In Dollars & Sense?

"Failure of high school age youths, working or unemployed, to return to the classroom this season may well be a big and tragic mistake."

This statement was made by Dianne McKaig, chairman of the U.S. Labor Department's Regional Staff here, on the recent opening of the "Back-to-school" drive in six southeastern states: Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, and South Carolina.

The drive is aimed at preventing an estimated 750,000 boys and girls in the United States from becoming dropouts this school year.

"More than ever before, our society now demands a high school diploma. Every effort is being made through Federal, State and local programs to make it possible for all youths to at least complete high school," Miss McKaig asserted.

The more education you get, the greater your earning potential in the years ahead.

Don't cheat yourself. Stay in school now and earn more in the future.

Dance the "Jerk" but don't be one. More education now means a better job later on.

Stay in school and keep in step with the changing world.
